The Bloomfield Record.

Newark Gamblers Besieged and Captured by the Sheriff.

A gambling den, known as the "Sherman House," at No. 10 Cedar street, Newark, was broken up last Saturday night. It has been a resort for fast young men, some of them holding important positions as clerks. Complaints having been made by residents in the neighborhood, a warrant was placed in the hands of Sheriff Peckwell, who took with him Deputy Sheriffs Davis, Horwitz, Hausbury, and a force of constables to assist in making the capture when the place was in full blast.

The posse were in utter ignorance of the point of attack. A little after ten o'clock the squad assembled at the appointed rendezvous and awaited the orders of Col. Peckwell. The sheriff's command placed his men as follows: Two ascended to the roof of a shed adjoining the Sherman House; two were stationed in the back yard, to cut off an escape from the rear; others were placed at the front of the building, while the Sheriff and a few attendants marched boldly up stairs and rapped at the door of the gambling room. "I command you to open this door in the name of the county of Essex," said the Sheriff. The gamblers refused to obey the summons. The power of the County was quickly manifested in a heavy sledge hammer, with which the door was battered down. The checks of young clerks blanched, and old gamblers gazed wildly at the officers. Then there was a rush for the windows, and some of the young men were only deterred from jumping out by shots fired by the party in the back yard.

Chas. H. Smith and Ira Jaeger, proprietors, with a number of assistants and other persons were arrested and required to furnish bail to a heavy amount. The Sheriff took possession of the property. The apartments were upholstered in elegant style, and without regard to expense. It was ascertained from a cash book found in the room that Jaeger's profits during his five weeks' career in Newark had been about $3,500.

House of Raymond and Company.

There must be a fundamental defect in the constitution of the man who has no regard for his appearance. Therefore some men who really appear to have a taste for whatever is unbecoming in dress; whose old clothes more resemble a last year's crow's nest than the wardrobe of a Christian gentleman. It is this merely an eccentricity, it is a pity it does not assume a less repulsive form. When writing the following complaint Swift doubtless had some of these fellows in his mind.

"The owl, the raven and the bat," chuckled for a feather in his hat. While poverty is not ordinarily a crime, and poor clothes should not necessarily lessen our respect for those who wear them, it is impossible to disguise the fact that we are all more or less influenced by superficial appearances. For this reason no man should either ride or walk about town in a dilapidated wardrobe when he has the means of presenting a comely appearance.

There is no doubt that clothes sustain a more or less intimate relation to morals. One way to make a man respectable is if possible to first make him appear so. By degrees his mind and life are influenced, because he at length perceives the propriety of conforming his character to the standard of his outward seeming. There is a moral efficacy in personal cleanliness and in becoming apparel as every one knows whose instincts are not blunted by depraved habits. Some way or other we are made to feel the moral influence of clothes when we pass the corner of Fulton and Nassau streets, New York, where, for twenty years, Messrs. Raymond & Co. have been employed in clothing the people of all nationalities in their most admired styles. This popular house has a well-earned reputation for discrimination in the selection of fabrics, for skilled labor, for moderate prices, and for fair dealing in the commercial department, as those who are familiar with its history can testify.

PROFITS OF THE CENTENNIAL.—The New York "Evening Mail" estimates that during the period of the Centennial Exhibition not less than 25,000 or 30,000 persons will be added to the daily floating population of New York, crowding the hotels and boarding-houses, and contributing to make a tidal wave of trade and activity in the city. It calculates that these extra visitors will spend at the hotels, in the stores, among hawkers and others not less than $250,000 a day, and this estimate appears to be entirely within bounds. But not only New York will thus benefit. Every railroad Company in the land will have a large increase of revenue. Every place of interest, whether from its history, its picturesque, its commerce, manufactures or other industries, will have a large influx of visitors. Every watering-place, at the seaside or inland, will have its business increased during the summer season from twenty to fifty per cent. Business of every kind in all parts of the country, will be stimulated, and more will be effected towards raising us out of our present depressed condition than could be done by the sudden fulfillment of any of the fine schemes of political and financial philosophers. The whole people are going to derive advantage from the Centennial, and therefore the whole people should exert themselves to add to the brilliancy of the Exhibition's success.

General Items.

It is said that the mules in the Pennsylvania coal mines, hundreds of feet below the surface and half a mile from the shaft have the epileptic, although none of them have been above ground in months.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has placed a patent gate on one of its ferry boats as an experiment. It is intended to prevent passengers from leaving the boat before it is made fast to the pier. If this one proves satisfactory, gates will be placed on all the boats.

O. Van Derhoven, editor of the Pasadenic City Herald, having been accused by Miss Amanda Foster of assaulting her, has been after a full investigation, honorably acquitted. Van Derhoven's testimony was directly contradictory to that of the girl, her aunt and uncle, all of whom testified to the assault.

Miss Lily Stay, about twenty-three years of age, was accidentally shot by the right leg above the knee, Monday night, while at a ball in Baltimore. She was dancing with a man at the time, when a pistol fell from his pocket and went off. She was able to walk to her home. The shooting caused considerable excitement in the ball-room.

The Young Men's Christian Association of New York have obtained from Commodore Vanderbilt, as representative of the New York and Harlem Railroad Co., a lease of Gilmore's Concert Garden, formerly Barnum's Hippodrome, for the use of Moody and Sankey. The Committee of the Association is to have full control of the building for three months, beginning on January 1.

The citizens of Union Hill are much incensed at the exclusion of the Bible from the public schools. At the opening of the school Monday morning, the teachers read the Ten Commandments as directed by the Board, and the Catholic children created a disturbance. A student will be made to recite the action of the Board. There are 680 children in the school, and there are only 200 Roman Catholic citizens in the town.

The ship City of Calcutta, which arrived at San Francisco recently from Australia, touched at Pitcairn Island, the abode of the descendants of the mutineers of the Bounty. It reports that the total population of the island at present is only eighty, and that this isolated community is desirous of cultivating peace relations with vessels arriving through the South Pacific Ocean in the vicinity of Pitcairn Island, and is prepared to furnish any number of pigs, goats, and poultry and abundance of fruit and vegetables in exchange for bread, coffee, tea, paints, and other articles which they are unable to raise or manufacture.

A few days ago a party of four girls, on their way home from school in East Bridgeport, Conn., came upon eight boys who had captured a kitten, and, having covered it with kerosene oil, proposed to set it on fire. They begged the boys to let them have the kitten, and were refused, whereupon they offered to buy it. This proposal also failed to meet the approval of the young savages, and the girls then hailed a passing man and begged him to interfere. He refused, saying he did not care what the boys did with the cat. Rendered desperate by repeated failures, the girls attacked the party of boys, and, though they were outnumbered two to one, succeeded in taking the kitten from them and carrying it away in triumph.

Mary Connelly was committed to the Monmouth County Jail, Freehold, N. J., on Wednesday, to answer a charge of having murdered her husband, Mrs. Connelly and her husband Michael Connelly, lived near the girl's mill, distant three miles from Freehold. Connelly returned home on Monday evening somewhat under the influence of liquor, and found his wife in much the same condition. They became engaged in an altercation and words soon led to blows. Mrs. Connelly, it is claimed, to resist her husband's violence, seized a club and dealt him a blow on the head, stunning him, and then followed up the assault, while he lay prostrate on the floor, by striking him a number of times on the body and head. He lingered until Tuesday evening when he died.

YOU HAVE NO EXCUSE.—Have you any excuse for suffering with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint? Is there any reason why you should come from day to day complaining with Sour Stomach, Sick Head-ache, Habitual Constipation, palpitation of the Heart, Heart Burn, Waterbrash, Giddiness and humors, and all the evils of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue, and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up from eating, Low spirits, and so on? It is positively your own fault if you do. Go to your Druggist Geo. R. Davis and get a Bottle of GRIFFIN'S ACID FLAVOR, 75 cents your cure is certain, but if you doubt this, get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it. Two doses will relieve you.

In Chancery of New Jersey.

To John Fogarty.

By virtue of a decree of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Joseph L. Ward is complainant, and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, demur or answer to the complaint filed on or before the 1st day of October, A. D. of 1875, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by you and your wife to Charles H. Madison and Robert Madison on lands in the township of Bloomfield in the county of Essex and State of New Jersey, dated December 22, A. D. 1873, and you are made a defendant because among other things the bill prays a decree against you for any deficiency there may be of the proceeds of said lands to pay the mortgage debt.
